

Wonkfest: Bridging the digital divide

meet two students

Kevin is an animation student, with a background in art. He follows key artists online, has an online portfolio of his own artwork, and he has set up his own website to sell his work. He works part time and is passionate about the Japanese cartoon genre 'Manga'

Shahida is a medical student, already having specifically designed online formative activities, can purchase all the books she needs from her reading lists, and takes part in a weekly set of Problem Based Learning activities - these are facilitated by an expert in groups of eight.

Debbie Holley, Professor of Learning Innovation, Bournemouth University

@debbieholley1 #BuildBackHigher