

About Wonkhe (SUs)

WONKHE SUs | SUMMER PROGRAMME 2023 | WONKHE.COM/SUS
SUS@WONKHE.COM | JIM@WONKHE.COM | LIVIA@WONKHE.COM

WONKHE
SUs

About Wonkhe

- Wonkhe is the home of higher education policy, bringing the sector together through expert analysis.
- A community of diverse voices, we provide platforms to drive the policy conversation forward and bring about real change.
- We like to do things differently, offer the unexpected and challenge the status quo. And all because we love HE and want to make it better for everyone.
- Our articles lead the higher education debate with analysis and commentary, driven by hundreds of different voices.
- Our events bring the sector together to explore higher education themes and drive professional development in HE.
- Our podcast platform publishes The Wonkhe Show – our weekly roundup of everything going on in HE.

The screenshot displays the Wonkhe website interface. At the top, the navigation bar includes 'WONKHE', 'ABOUT US', 'EVENTS', 'LATEST', 'JOBS', 'SUBSCRIPTION', and 'SUS'. Below the navigation, there are two main content areas. The left area features a graphic of people in colorful speech bubbles. The right area has a green background with the headline 'Meet the people – a lesson in asking the public the right question about universities' and a sub-headline 'Understanding public opinion is always worthwhile but can be fraught with danger. David Kernohan examines the unexpected policy impact of a recent poll from Universities Alliance and Public First.' Below this, there are three article thumbnails: 'Will students defer?' by Sander Kristel, 'Why can't the sector get in tune about September?' by Michelle Morgan, and 'Should students take the gamble?' by Jim Dickinson. A yellow banner for 'THE WONKHE SHOW' podcast is featured, with the headline 'PODCAST: Consumers, student experience, China, statues'. The 'Latest articles' section contains a grid of 12 article thumbnails, each with a title, author, and date. A 'VIEW ALL' button is located below the grid. The bottom section is titled 'Governance and Covid-19 - in association with KPMG' and contains four article thumbnails.

About Wonkhe

- Our flagship email briefing, Wonkhe Mondays keeps the sector up to date with a weekly look at the latest developments in UK HE policy.
- And the Wonkhe Daily is depended on to keep the HE sector, government and agencies ahead of the HE policy and news curve.
- We work with a range of organisations in around higher education that share our goals and support our work.
- Wonkhe depends on contributions from across higher education – if you would like to write for us, please read our guide to writing for Wonkhe, and get in touch to pitch an article.

The screenshot displays the Wonkhe website interface. At the top, the navigation bar includes 'WONKHE', 'ABOUT US', 'EVENTS', 'LATEST', 'JOBS', 'SUBSCRIPTION', and 'SUS'. Below this, there are buttons for 'WONKHE MONDAYS' and 'BRIEFING SERVICES'. The main content area features a large article titled 'Meet the people – a lesson in asking the public the right question about universities' by David Kernohan, dated 11/06/20. Below this, there are three smaller article thumbnails: 'Will students defer?' by Sander Kristel, 'Why can't the sector get in tune about September?' by Michelle Morgan, and 'Should students take the gamble?' by Jim Dickinson. A 'PODCAST: Consumers, student experience, China, statues' section follows, featuring 'THE WONKHE SHOW'. The 'Latest articles' section contains a grid of 12 article thumbnails with titles such as 'This September, students should be able to try before they buy', 'Does the student number cap incentivise over-recruitment?', 'Asterix, Graduate Outcomes, and the squeezed student middle', 'The other independently educated could miss out on HE this year', 'Are community and Covid-19 mutually exclusive?', 'Student sport can't be an optional extra in September's offer', 'The Fair Dinkum Wonkhe University Picture Quiz', 'Students and their unions face a triple whammy this autumn', 'Student academic experience in 2019-20', 'Assessing competences could equip graduates for an uncertain post-Covid future', 'What can universities promise about student life in September? Who knows', and 'Applicants and students need clarity about next years' provision'. A 'VIEW ALL' button is located below the grid. The bottom section, 'Governance and Covid-19 - in association with KPMG', features four more article thumbnails with titles like 'The strategic imperative: planning for a post-Covid future', 'From crisis to creativity: how Covid-19 could change HE governance', 'Risk management, planning, and audit are at the centre of the sector's Covid-19 response', and 'Securing the student interest in Covid-19 will require tough choices'.

Where we were in 2018

- Student representation is getting harder
- The sector is more difficult to understand
- There is more complex data around
- Sector strategic capacity is diminished
- SU officers are less experienced
- Lots of duplication across SUs in explaining things

Like Wonkhe, but for SUs

- Wonkhe SUs is a subscription service for students' unions designed to keep SU officers and staff in the loop.
- When SUs know what's going on, and can understand what's going on, they can influence what's going on in the student interest.
- Our services are aimed at saving time and improving the effectiveness of student representation, campaigning and policy work.

The screenshot displays the Wonkhe SUs website interface. At the top, the navigation bar includes 'WONKHE SUs', 'ABOUT US', 'EVENTS', 'LATEST', 'JOBS', 'SUBSCRIPTION', and 'SUS'. Below the navigation, there are buttons for 'WONKHE MONDAYS' and 'BRIEFING SERVICES'. The main content area is titled 'Wonkhe SUs latest articles' and features three article cards: 'Are community and Covid-19 mutually exclusive?' by Tom Lowe, 'Student sport can't be an optional extra in September's offer' by Julie Brunton, and 'Students and their unions face a triple whammy this autumn' by Erica Ramos. A 'VIEW ALL' button is located below these cards. The next section is 'Reopening campuses', containing four article cards: 'Students need detail about September - but is that possible?' by Jim Dickinson, 'DfE has published guidance on reopening universities in the autumn' by Jim Dickinson, 'QAA has guidance out on courses and assessment next year' by Wonkhe Sus Briefing, and 'UUK has published some principles and considerations on emerging from lockdown' by Jim Dickinson. This section also includes 'LOAD MORE' and 'VIEW ALL' buttons. Below this is a blue banner for 'Our approach to training and officer induction this summer' by Jim Dickinson. The 'Briefings for SUs' section follows, with four article cards: 'The essential findings in this year's Student Academic Experience Survey' by Wonkhe Sus Briefing, 'A major digital divide is opening up between students' by Wonkhe Sus Briefing, 'What difference do "personal tutors" make - and how?' by Matt Grogan, and 'Students are keen to come back - with caveats' by Wonkhe Sus Briefing. A 'VIEW ALL' button is present. A green banner for 'Subscribing to Wonkhe SUs' includes a 'SUBSCRIBE' button. The 'Essential Friday SUs email briefing' section features three article cards: 'Rational thinking' by Jim Dickinson, 'Bursting the bubbles' by Jim Dickinson, and 'Social distance learning' by Jim Dickinson, with a 'VIEW ALL' button. A yellow banner for 'Like Wonkhe. But specifically for SUs.' includes a 'MARK LEACH | POST | 11/05/19' link. The final section is 'Covid-19 and students', with two article cards: 'This September, students should be able to try before they buy' by Jim Dickinson and 'Student academic experience in 2019-20' by David Kernohan.

Like Wonkhe, but for SUs

- At Wonkhe we love students' unions. Many of us began our careers in students' unions. We think the UK students' union system is unrivalled around the world and makes UK higher education better. So we naturally want to deliver work in this area.
- We see work with students' unions as an investment in our mission to improve higher education policymaking, provide a platform unheard and diverse voices, and an opportunity to support the sector's wider talent pipeline.
- We're not a representative body – we'll never seek to speak on behalf of students or students' unions. That's your job, along with your National Union.
- We're also not a campaigning body – there won't be a national demonstration or a lobby of parliament.
- We're not democratic and we're non-partisan. That doesn't mean you won't hear professional opinions from the team and doesn't mean we won't involve SUs and students in our work – but we won't take a policy position or have an elected committee.

The screenshot displays the Wonkhe website interface. At the top, the navigation bar includes 'WONKHE SUs', 'ABOUT US', 'EVENTS', 'LATEST', 'JOBS', 'SUBSCRIPTION', and 'SUS'. Below the navigation, there are buttons for 'WONKHE MONDAYS' and 'BRIEFING SERVICES'. The main content area is titled 'Wonkhe SUs latest articles' and features three article cards: 'Are community and Covid-19 mutually exclusive?' by Tom Lowe, 'Student sport can't be an optional extra in September's offer' by Julie Brunton, and 'Students and their unions face a triple whammy this autumn' by Erica Ramos. A 'VIEW ALL' button is located below these cards. The next section is 'Reopening campuses', containing four article cards: 'Students need detail about September – but is that possible?' by Jim Dickinson, 'DfE has published guidance on reopening universities in the autumn' by Jim Dickinson, 'QAA has guidance out on courses and assessment next year' by Wonkhe Sus Briefing, and 'UUK has published some principles and considerations on emerging from lockdown' by Jim Dickinson. A 'LOAD MORE' and 'VIEW ALL' button are positioned below this section. The following section is 'Our approach to training and officer induction this summer' by Jim Dickinson. The 'Briefings for SUs' section contains four article cards: 'The essential findings in this year's Student Academic Experience Survey' by Wonkhe Sus Briefing, 'A major digital divide is opening up between students' by Wonkhe Sus Briefing, 'What difference do "personal tutors" make – and how?' by Matt Grogan, and 'Students are keen to come back – with caveats' by Wonkhe Sus Briefing. A 'VIEW ALL' button is located below these cards. The 'Subscribing to Wonkhe SUs' section provides information on how to subscribe to the service for students' union officers and staff, with a 'SUBSCRIBE' button. The 'Essential Friday SUs email briefing' section features three article cards: 'Rational thinking' by Jim Dickinson, 'Bursting the bubbles' by Jim Dickinson, and 'Social distance learning' by Jim Dickinson. A 'VIEW ALL' button is located below these cards. The 'Like Wonkhe. But specifically for SUs.' section features an article by Mark Leach introducing a new subscription service for students' union officers and staff. The final section is 'Covid-19 and students', containing two article cards: 'This September, students should be able to try before they buy' by Jim Dickinson and 'Student academic experience in 2019-20' by David Kernohan.

How it works

Regular policy briefings

Minimum twice weekly policy briefings and beginner's guides on key issues in higher education, plus access to our archive of over 500 briefings on key issues and research findings on students and SUs – as well as access to our quarterly policy update sent to subscribing universities.

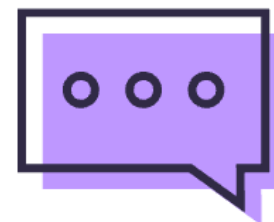

Training

A thirty hour plus online summer programme of sessions, and entitlement to a day's in-house training for officers and/or staff on policy analysis, influencing, policy development and problem solving.

Briefing emails

As well as access to the Wonkhe Daily email briefing, you receive a bespoke weekly email for SUs featuring the latest developments, news coverage, analysis and opportunities for SUs – as well as news from around the network.

Instant alerts and chat

Access to our WhatsApp news and policy alerts and group chat.

Online briefings

Weekly interactive sessions on issues SUs will be discussing with institutions as well as an invitation to a monthly Wonkhe Live event.

Advice and support

Team Wonkhe on call, offering advice and support v your representation and policy issues and regular catch ups.

Event discounts

Wonkhe hosts events all year round – online and offline – and Wonkhe SUs subscribers receive discounts to each, including our festival of higher education: Wonkfest.

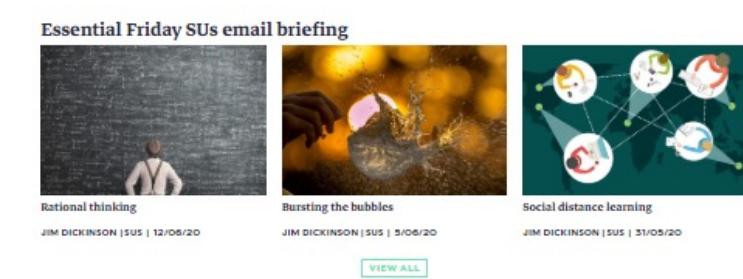

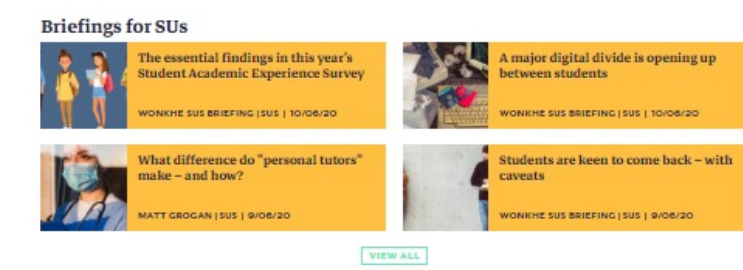

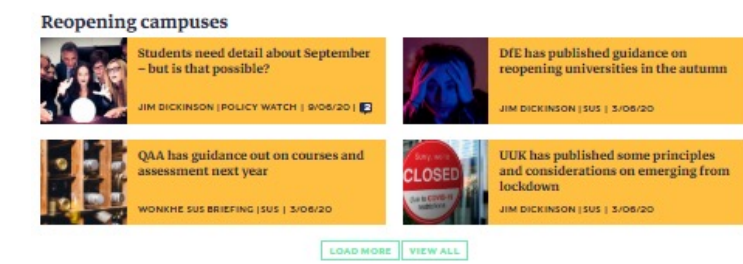

Exclusive events and projects

Every year there's exclusive projects, roundtables and events to get involved in – from research projects into the student experience to the annual study tour to learn about how other countries do student representation (extra cost).

WONKHE SUs
WONKHE MONDAYS BRIEFING SERVICES
Wonkhe SUs latest articles
Are community and Covid-19 mutually exclusive? TOM LOWE | SU BLOGS | 12/06/20
Student sport can't be an optional extra in September's offer JULIE BRUNTON | SU BLOGS | 12/06/20
Students and their unions face a triple whammy this autumn ERICA RAMOS | SU BLOGS | 11/06/20
VIEW ALL

How it works

Regular policy briefings

Minimum twice weekly policy briefings and beginner's guides on key issues in higher education, plus access to our archive of over 500 briefings on key issues and research findings on students and SUs – as well as access to our quarterly policy update sent to subscribing universities.

The screenshot displays the Wonkhe website interface. At the top, there is a navigation bar with the Wonkhe logo and links for 'ABOUT US', 'EVENTS', 'LATEST', 'JOBS', 'SUBSCRIPTION', and 'SUS'. Below the navigation bar, there are two tabs: 'WONKHE MONDAYS' and 'BRIEFING SERVICES'. The main content area is titled 'Wonkhe SUs latest articles' and features three article cards. The first card is titled 'Are community and Covid-19 mutually exclusive?' by Tom Lowe. The second is 'Student sport can't be an optional extra in September's offer' by Julie Brunton. The third is 'Students and their unions face a triple whammy this autumn' by Erica Ramos. Below these articles is a 'VIEW ALL' button. The next section is 'Reopening campuses', which contains four article cards: 'Students need detail about September – but is that possible?' by Jim Dickinson, 'DfE has published guidance on reopening universities in the autumn' by Jim Dickinson, 'QAA has guidance out on courses and assessment next year' by Wonkhe Sus Briefing, and 'UUK has published some principles and considerations on emerging from lockdown' by Jim Dickinson. This section also includes 'LOAD MORE' and 'VIEW ALL' buttons. Following this is a blue banner for 'Our approach to training and officer induction this summer' by Jim Dickinson. The 'Briefings for SUs' section contains four article cards: 'The essential findings in this year's Student Academic Experience Survey' by Wonkhe Sus Briefing, 'A major digital divide is opening up between students' by Wonkhe Sus Briefing, 'What difference do "personal tutors" make – and how?' by Matt Grogan, and 'Students are keen to come back – with caveats' by Wonkhe Sus Briefing. A 'VIEW ALL' button is located below these cards. The next section is a green banner for 'Subscribing to Wonkhe SUs', which includes a 'SUBSCRIBE' button. This is followed by the 'Essential Friday SUs email briefing' section, featuring three article cards: 'Rational thinking' by Jim Dickinson, 'Bursting the bubbles' by Jim Dickinson, and 'Social distance learning' by Jim Dickinson, with a 'VIEW ALL' button below. The final section is a yellow banner for 'Like Wonkhe. But specifically for SUs.', which includes a 'MARK LEACH | POST | 11/05/19' link. At the bottom, there is a 'Covid-19 and students' section with two article cards: 'This September, students should be able to try before they buy' by Jim Dickinson and 'Student academic experience in 2019-20' by David Kernohan.

How it works

Training

A thirty hour plus online summer programme of sessions, and entitlement to a day's in-house training for officers and/or staff on policy analysis, influencing, policy development and problem solving.

The screenshot displays the Wonkhe website interface. At the top, the 'WONKHE' logo is prominent, with navigation links for 'ABOUT US', 'EVENTS', 'LATEST', 'JOBS', 'SUBSCRIPTION', and 'SUS'. Below the logo, there are buttons for 'WONKHE MONDAYS' and 'BRIEFING SERVICES'. The main content area is titled 'Wonkhe SUs latest articles' and features three article cards with images and text. Below this, there's a 'Reopening campuses' section with four article cards. A blue banner highlights 'Our approach to training and officer induction this summer'. The 'Briefings for SUs' section follows with four article cards. A green banner promotes 'Subscribing to Wonkhe SUs'. The 'Essential Friday SUs email briefing' section includes three article cards. A yellow banner states 'Like Wonkhe. But specifically for SUs.'. Finally, a 'Covid-19 and students' section at the bottom features two article cards.

How it works

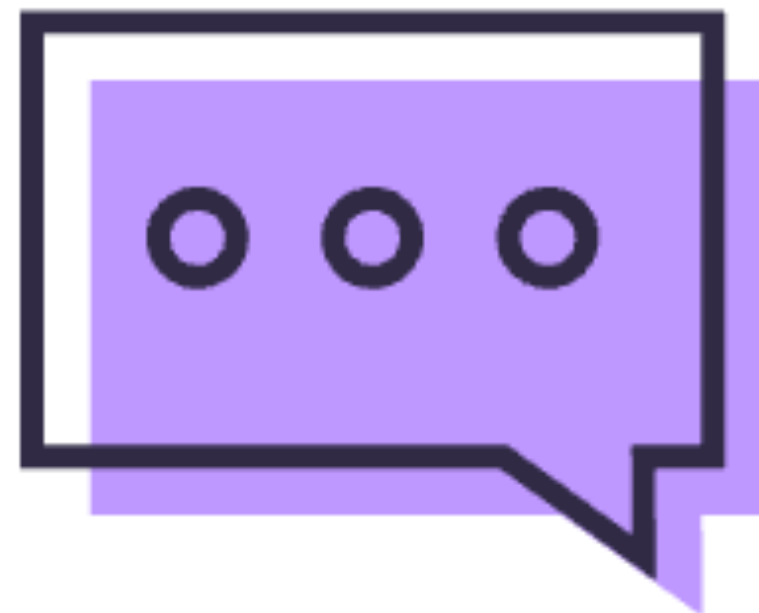

Briefing emails

As well as access to the Wonkhe Daily email briefing, you receive a bespoke weekly email for SUs featuring the latest developments, news coverage, analysis and opportunities for SUs – as well as news from around the network.

The screenshot displays the Wonkhe website interface. At the top, the navigation bar includes 'WONKHE SUs', 'ABOUT US', 'EVENTS', 'LATEST', 'JOBS', 'SUBSCRIPTION', and 'SUS'. Below the navigation, there are buttons for 'WONKHE MONDAYS' and 'BRIEFING SERVICES'. The main content area is titled 'Wonkhe SUs latest articles' and features three article cards with images and headlines. Below this, there is a 'Reopening campuses' section with four article cards. A large blue banner follows with the text 'Our approach to training and officer induction this summer'. The 'Briefings for SUs' section contains four article cards. Below that is a green banner for 'Subscribing to Wonkhe SUs' with a 'SUBSCRIBE' button. The 'Essential Friday SUs email briefing' section features three article cards. A yellow banner below reads 'Like Wonkhe. But specifically for SUs.' The final section is 'Covid-19 and students' with two article cards.

How it works

Instant alerts and chat

Access to our WhatsApp news and policy alerts and group chat.

The screenshot displays the Wonkhe website interface. At the top, there is a navigation bar with the Wonkhe logo and links for 'ABOUT US', 'EVENTS', 'LATEST', 'JOBS', 'SUBSCRIPTION', and 'SUS'. Below the navigation bar, there are two tabs: 'WONKHE MONDAYS' and 'BRIEFING SERVICES'. The main content area is titled 'Wonkhe SUs latest articles' and features three article cards. The first card is titled 'Are community and Covid-19 mutually exclusive?' by Tom Lowe. The second is 'Student sport can't be an optional extra in September's offer' by Julie Brunton. The third is 'Students and their unions face a triple whammy this autumn' by Erica Ramos. Below these articles is a 'VIEW ALL' button. The next section is 'Reopening campuses', which contains four article cards: 'Students need detail about September - but is that possible?' by Jim Dickinson, 'DfE has published guidance on reopening universities in the autumn' by Jim Dickinson, 'QAA has guidance out on courses and assessment next year' by Wonkhe Sus Briefing, and 'UUK has published some principles and considerations on emerging from lockdown' by Jim Dickinson. This section also includes 'LOAD MORE' and 'VIEW ALL' buttons. Following this is a blue banner for 'Our approach to training and officer induction this summer' by Jim Dickinson. The 'Briefings for SUs' section contains four article cards: 'The essential findings in this year's Student Academic Experience Survey' by Wonkhe Sus Briefing, 'A major digital divide is opening up between students' by Wonkhe Sus Briefing, 'What difference do "personal tutors" make - and how?' by Matt Grogan, and 'Students are keen to come back - with caveats' by Wonkhe Sus Briefing. A 'VIEW ALL' button is located below these cards. The next section is a green banner for 'Subscribing to Wonkhe SUs', which includes a 'SUBSCRIBE' button. The 'Essential Friday SUs email briefing' section features three article cards: 'Rational thinking' by Jim Dickinson, 'Bursting the bubbles' by Jim Dickinson, and 'Social distance learning' by Jim Dickinson, with a 'VIEW ALL' button below. The following section is a yellow banner for 'Like Wonkhe. But specifically for SUs.', which includes a 'MARK LEACH | POST | 11/05/19' link. The final section is 'Covid-19 and students', which contains two article cards: 'This September, students should be able to try before they buy' by Jim Dickinson and 'Student academic experience in 2019-20' by David Kernohan.

How it works

Online briefings

Weekly interactive sessions on issues SUs will be discussing with institutions as well as an invitation to a monthly Wonkhe Live event.

A screenshot of the Wonkhe website. The page features a green header with the 'WONKHE' logo and navigation links. Below the header, there are several article cards and sections. The 'Wonkhe SUs latest articles' section includes three articles with images and titles. The 'Reopening campuses' section has four article cards. A blue banner highlights 'Our approach to training and officer induction this summer'. The 'Briefings for SUs' section contains four article cards. A green banner promotes 'Subscribing to Wonkhe SUs'. The 'Essential Friday SUs email briefing' section features three article cards. A yellow banner advertises 'Like Wonkhe. But specifically for SUs.'. The 'Covid-19 and students' section has two article cards. The page is decorated with green dots along the right edge.

How it works

Advice and support

Team Wonkhe on call, offering advice and support with your representation and policy issues and regular catch ups.

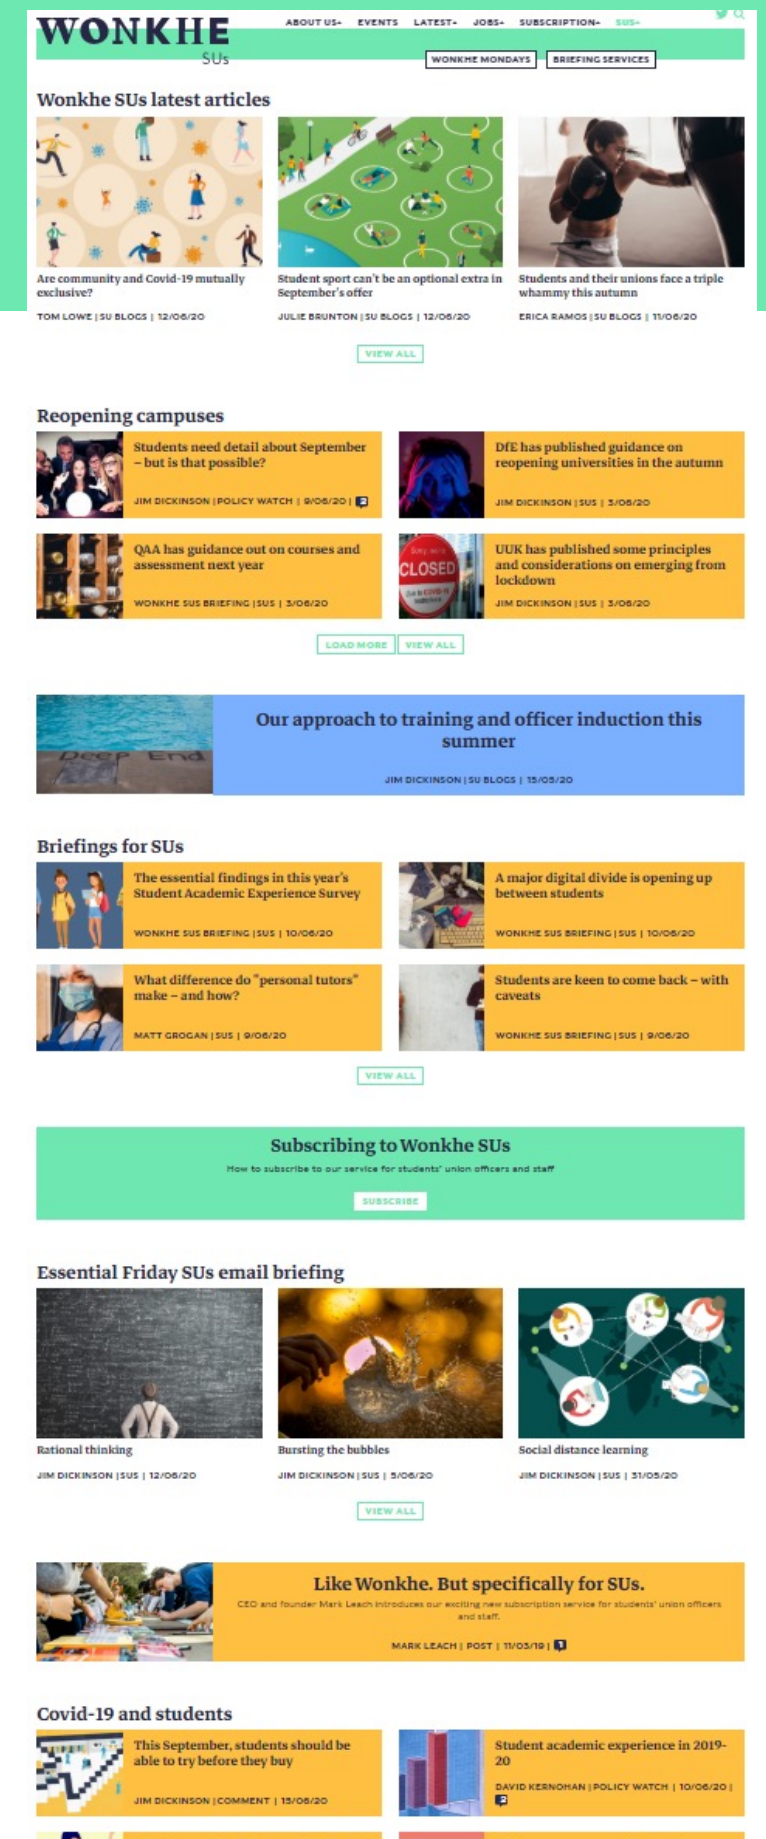

The screenshot displays the Wonkhe website interface. At the top, the navigation bar includes 'WONKHE SUs', 'ABOUT US', 'EVENTS', 'LATEST', 'JOBS', 'SUBSCRIPTION', and 'SUS'. Below the navigation, there are buttons for 'WONKHE MONDAYS' and 'BRIEFING SERVICES'. The main content area is titled 'Wonkhe SUs latest articles' and features three article cards: 'Are community and Covid-19 mutually exclusive?' by Tom Lowe, 'Student sport can't be an optional extra in September's offer' by Julie Brunton, and 'Students and their unions face a triple whammy this autumn' by Erica Ramos. A 'VIEW ALL' button is located below these articles. The next section is 'Reopening campuses', containing four article cards: 'Students need detail about September - but is that possible?' by Jim Dickinson, 'DfE has published guidance on reopening universities in the autumn' by Jim Dickinson, 'QAA has guidance out on courses and assessment next year' by Wonkhe Sus Briefing, and 'UUK has published some principles and considerations on emerging from lockdown' by Jim Dickinson. This section also includes 'LOAD MORE' and 'VIEW ALL' buttons. Below this is a blue banner for 'Our approach to training and officer induction this summer' by Jim Dickinson. The 'Briefings for SUs' section follows, with four article cards: 'The essential findings in this year's Student Academic Experience Survey' by Wonkhe Sus Briefing, 'A major digital divide is opening up between students' by Wonkhe Sus Briefing, 'What difference do "personal tutors" make - and how?' by Matt Grogan, and 'Students are keen to come back - with caveats' by Wonkhe Sus Briefing. A 'VIEW ALL' button is present. The next section is a green banner for 'Subscribing to Wonkhe SUs' with a 'SUBSCRIBE' button. This is followed by the 'Essential Friday SUs email briefing' section, which includes three article cards: 'Rational thinking' by Jim Dickinson, 'Bursting the bubbles' by Jim Dickinson, and 'Social distance learning' by Jim Dickinson, with a 'VIEW ALL' button. The final section is a yellow banner for 'Like Wonkhe. But specifically for SUs.' by Mark Leach, followed by a 'Covid-19 and students' section with two article cards: 'This September, students should be able to try before they buy' by Jim Dickinson and 'Student academic experience in 2019-20' by David Kernohan.

How it works

Event discounts

Wonkhe hosts events all year round – online and offline – and Wonkhe SUs subscribers receive discounts to each, including our festival of higher education: Wonkfest.

How it works

Exclusive events and projects

Every year there's exclusive projects, roundtables and events to get involved in – from research projects into the student experience to the annual study tour to learn about how other countries do student representation (extra cost).

The screenshot displays the Wonkhe website interface. At the top, there's a navigation bar with 'WONKHE' and 'SUs' logos, and links for 'ABOUT US', 'EVENTS', 'LATEST', 'JOBS', 'SUBSCRIPTION', and 'SUS'. Below the navigation, there are buttons for 'WONKHE MONDAYS' and 'BRIEFING SERVICES'. The main content area is titled 'Wonkhe SUs latest articles' and features three article cards with images and titles. Below this, there's a 'Reopening campuses' section with four article cards. A blue banner highlights 'Our approach to training and officer induction this summer'. The 'Briefings for SUs' section contains four article cards. A green banner promotes 'Subscribing to Wonkhe SUs'. The 'Essential Friday SUs email briefing' section features three article cards. A yellow banner states 'Like Wonkhe. But specifically for SUs.' Finally, the 'Covid-19 and students' section has two article cards. The website uses a clean, modern design with a color palette of green, purple, yellow, and blue.

Making the most of it

- Make sure you're signed up as explainers, webinars (and soon our archive) and so on are behind our paywall
- A new website launches soon – for now if education/social policy isn't your thing, the Friday email is the essential one
- If you have an event on or a Board meeting where you'd like us to present, we're always happy to try to make that happen
- If you're looking for an article, research on an issue or data, just message Jim or Livia – we'd be happy to help
- Almost every senior manager reads us - blogs from SU officers and staff is a great way to get an issue on the agenda locally
- We'll be running policy forums and policy development groups this year for officers and staff- do get involved to build your network and help develop practice

The screenshot displays the Wonkhe website interface. At the top, there's a navigation bar with 'WONKHE' and 'SUs' logos, and links for 'ABOUT US', 'EVENTS', 'LATEST', 'JOBS', 'SUBSCRIPTION', and 'SUS'. Below the navigation, there are buttons for 'WONKHE MONDAYS' and 'BRIEFING SERVICES'. The main content area is titled 'Wonkhe SUs latest articles' and features three article cards: 'Are community and Covid-19 mutually exclusive?' by Tom Lowe, 'Student sport can't be an optional extra in September's offer' by Julie Brunton, and 'Students and their unions face a triple whammy this autumn' by Erica Ramos. Below these are sections for 'Reopening campuses' with three article cards, 'Briefings for SUs' with three article cards, and 'Essential Friday SUs email briefing' with three article cards. At the bottom, there's a section for 'Like Wonkhe. But specifically for SUs.' and 'Covid-19 and students' with two article cards. A 'SUBSCRIBE' button is visible in the middle section.

About Wonkhe (SUs)

WONKHE SUs | SUMMER PROGRAMME 2023 | WONKHE.COM/SUS
SUS@WONKHE.COM | JIM@WONKHE.COM | LIVIA@WONKHE.COM

WONKHE
SUs